ABOUT THE SPEAKER
ADAM DAVIS, DC, DABCN, DABCA, DIBAK

Dr. Adam M. Davis completed his undergraduate studies at Youngstown State University in 1999. He graduated with honors from New York Chiropractic College in 2006. Since receiving his doctorate, he has earned several diplomate degrees in Applied Kinesiology, Clinical Nutrition and Acupuncture. After becoming board certified in these post doctorate endeavors, Dr. Davis accomplished certification to be an instructor of Applied Kinesiology. Besides lecturing on various health topics nationally, he developed an eight session Professional Applied Kinesiology course online and has recently written a paper on discovering an acupuncture technique to neurologically correct cranial faults. Adding to his list of accomplishments, Dr. Davis authored the Advanced Healthcare Solution's Physicians' Desk Reference which is an excellent resource for all clinicians. This reference is an holistic guide in diet, clinical nutrition, acupuncture, reflexology, and manual therapies for 165 different conditions. Dr. Davis, combines his diplomat degrees and education in clinical nutrition, acupuncture, and applied kinesiology in this educational form designed to balance the brain and restore health and function. Functional Neurology techniques are designed to improve treatment outcomes.
